Annual SCCA Rally School. Learn the "Main Road" way of following a rally course, and be ready for any SCCA rally across the country. Two hour school, 30 minute mini-rally course to illustrate what you have learned. Watch for up-to-date details on www.texasscca.org.

Based on the British "Plot-n-Bash" rally, this is one of our most popular events. From a Map which is provided, you must plot a course according to certain rules, then drive that course, recording answers to questions along the way. Watch for up-to-date details on www.texasscca.org.

A fun drive in the country, combined with an old-fashioned sign-hunt. Drive from Plano to Texas Motor Speedway north of Ft Worth, where the SCCA "Sunburn Grand Prix" roadraces will be going on. Free entry to the track Saturday (and Sunday, if you like), to spectate. Trophies given in the TMS Media Center. Watch for up-to-date details on www.texasscca.org.

Charity event benefitting local animal shelter. There will be a 2-hour fun rally followed by a picnic/social-hour. This event does count towards local and national rally championships. Watch for up-to-date details on www.texasscca.org.

This rally is currently planned to begin at a flight museum in Dallas, and end at another flight museum in Ft Worth. At each museum you will have time to complete a scavenger-hunt. During the drive between the two, you will have to find certain streets or advertisements that are flight-related in some way. This event may be called, "The Frontiers of Flight Rally."
